Nematodes Talk By Dr. Winchester

Guest speaker for the Everglades USDA Club's first meeting after summer vacation was the Everglades Experiment Station's newest scientist, Dr. James A. Winchester. The Club resumed its meetings with a luncheon at the Community Center, Canal Point on Wednesday, October 10.

Dr. Winchester, a native Floridian, received his three degrees from the University of Florida, Gainesville, in Nematology, and spoke to the club about nematodes in general.

Root-knot nematodes, of which most people in the Glades are at least vaguely familiar, have been known to be destructive to crops since before the turn of the century. Relatively little attention to the development of control measures was devoted by agricultural experiment stations until about 1925 to 1950. In fact, Nematology as a field of its own, relative to those of entomology, pathology, ornithology, etc. was not recognized until the late 1940's. It was shortly after 1950 that agricultural experiment station directors recognized plant-parasitic nematodes. (Continued From Page 1)

Lake Worth Squad Comes Here Tonite

Tonight on Lair Field in Pahokee the local Blue Devils will do battle with Lake Worth who is tied with Belle Glade for the lead in the Suncoast Conference.

Last Friday night Dan McCarty of Fort Pierce threw Pahokee off the top of the Suncoast Conference by registering two touchdowns in the final period on a 29-13 victory, and Sebring ended Okeechobee's string of four straight victories with a 12-7 verdict over the Brahmins in a Ridge Conference game.

One of the key weekends of the season is on tap tonight for Suncoast Conference fans when the pennant-favored outfit from Lake Worth comes to Pahokee.

Both Belle Glade and Pahokee teams are surprisingly strong so far. But this week both face a vital test before home audiences in the feature game of a six-game Suncoast card.

Seacrest, 3-1-1 over-all, visits Belle Glade which is 5-0 and still unscathed upon for the best half-season record in the school's history. Lake Worth, 4-0 and not yet keenly pressed by an opponent, calls on Pahokee which had a four-game win streak clipped last week by McCarty.

In two other league matches, winless Clewiston visits Forest Hill and equally winless Riviera Beach travels to face rebounding McCarty. After going scoreless in their first three starts, the Eagles have made an about face to win two straight.

Reserved Tags To Be Available

All those who reserved 1962 tag numbers for their automobiles must come into the tag office during October and reserve their 1962 tag numbers if they wish to retain the same numbers. Mrs. Edwina Young of the Tax Collector's office reminded reserve tag owners today.

The full price of the tag plus a dollar reserve fee must be paid at the time of application, she added. Those desiring tag numbers not previously reserved will have an opportunity to do so starting November first.

Many find it convenient to re-member their tag numbers by reserving tags bearing their telephone numbers.

Perhaps you've wondered whether many of the "convenience" foods to be found in increasing numbers in today's markets, cost more than they're worth.

If "worth" is considered on the basis of comparison with the cost of home-prepared counterparts, you may be surprised to learn that many of the convenience items will save you money, besides the time and labor saving for which they are designed.

Frozen orange juice concentrate is among the leaders in money-saving items. According to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, for each $100 spent on food at the grocery store 68 cents goes for frozen orange juice. But it would cost $1.39 for an equal amount of juice from fresh oranges — and that doesn't include the value of time saved in preparation.

Of 158 convenience items studied, USDA reports 42 were less expensive and 116 more expensive than home-prepared counterparts. However, the typical housewife buys enough of the money-saving items so her total food bill is smaller than if she bought only fresh items to prepare in her own kitchen.

The greatest cost difference found in the studies was between instant coffee and that made from regular ground roast coffee. One dollar of every hundred spent on food by typical housewives in the nation is spent on instant coffee. The same number of servings from regular coffee would cost $1.96. The chicken chow mein you buy at 85 cents in frozen form for four servings, or the canned product at 66 cents, would cost you $1.02 if prepared at home.

On the other hand, fresh, ready-to-serve yeast rolls account for 10.6 cents of every $100 spent on food, whereas the ingredients to make an equal quantity at home would cost only 3.4 cents. However, many housewives — and probably a lot of single men who do their own cooking — purchase the cost-increasing foods because of the time and skill required to prepare such things as rolls at home.

If you'd like more information on relative costs of other convenience foods, you may write for Marketing Bulletin No. 22, "Convenience Foods in the Grocery Basket." Single copies are free. Address your request to Office of Information, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington 25, D. C.

A Florida woman wrote this office recently asking for information on how to raise ants and where is the best market for them. I'll confess we had to write back and ask what kind of ants she had in mind and for what purpose she thinks they'll be used.

It seems to me I've heard of some strange specialty foods, such as fried grasshoppers and chocolate covered ants, to intrigue party givers into offering their guests something different than the usual run of cocktail canapés. But I don't envision an overwhelming demand developing in our conservative American market for such extraordinary items.

On the other hand, many of us do go for aged cheese in a big way, yet I doubt if our cheese connoisseurs would be much tempted by the aged eggs which the Chinese consider a great delicacy. And some of our malodorous, but delightfully tasty, cheese wouldn't be likely to get a warm reception on a Chinese dinner table.

I hope we shall be able to help the woman who wants to raise ants. I thought we had enough of them in Florida that no one would be interested in producing them commercially.

Quite a number of things American have become popular abroad — Coca Cola, hot dogs, supermarkets, electric refrigerators, etc.

Latest to invade Europe, it is reported by U. S. News, is trading stamps. With the boom in business there, retailing is becoming more competitive and many merchants are looking for new promotion gimmicks to stimulate trade.

On the other hand, here in the U. S., a recent business news item quotes officials of W. T. Grant Co. (a chain of 1,000 stores) to the effect they will drop trading stamps as of March 15, 1963. The sales increase realized from stamps is "not enough to pay the cost."

New Jersey reports the number of turkeys being raised there this year is down 11 per cent this year, from 180,000 in 1961 to 160,000. Light breeds are the same as a year ago (14,000) but heavy breeds are down 20,000, or 12 per cent.

In spite of the fact the industry refused to approve proposals for a national marketing order that would tend to lower production, growers seem to have taken to heart the warnings that they faced another tough year if they didn't cut back. National production this year is expected to total 91,800,000 birds, or 15 per cent less than 1961's record crop. Heavy breeds are down 13 per cent, but there's a one-third cut estimated for the light breeds.

Maryland, Virginia and California are bucking this year's trend. Those three states expect to produce more turkeys this year than last.

Circle Meeting Is Held Thomas Home

The Simonson-Lair Circle met at the home of Mrs. J. V. Thomas, Sr. on East Main Street with the circle chairman, Mrs. Frank Friend, presiding.

Mrs. M. P. Holman, program chairman, and Mrs. J. R. York presented the program, "Around the Rim of East Asia", in a question and answer style, which was unusual and thought provoking. Mrs. R. J. Schroder gave the closing prayer.

Typed lists showing the coupons that can be utilized by the Children's Home at Enterprise, were distributed to members. Mrs. Ida Larimore has been appointed to receive these coupons from anyone wishing to donate them.

The selection of hostesses for the circle meetings for the current year was completed. The meeting in November will be at the home of Mrs. Lon Wilson with Mrs. J. D. Rogers as co-hostess.

Refreshments were served to 17 members by Mrs. Wilma McClenihan acting as hostess in the absence of Mrs. Thomas who was called out of town by the death of a relative.

New $3\frac{3}{4}\%$ interest on U.S. Savings Bonds

The Treasury explains why the new ones you buy and the ones you own now are better than ever

Q: How does the new $3\frac{3}{4}\%$ interest rate benefit me?

A: With Series E Bonds, the rate turns $18.75 into $25.00 fourteen months faster than the old rate. Your savings increase faster, because your Bonds mature in just 7 years, 9 months.

With Series H Bonds, the 10-year maturity period stays the same but more interest is paid you each six months. With both E and H Bonds the new rate works out to $2\frac{1}{2}\%$ for the first year and a half, then a guaranteed 4% each year to maturity.

Q: When did the new rate become effective?

A: June 1, 1959.

Q: Does the new rate change the Bonds I bought before June 1, 1959?

A: All older E and H Bonds pay more now—an extra $\frac{1}{2}\%$ from now on, when held to maturity. The increase takes effect in the first full interest period after June 1.

Q: Will the Bonds I own automatically earn their new rate?

A: Yes. You don't need to do a thing—just hold on to your Bonds.

Q: When my E Bonds mature, will they keep on earning interest?

A: Yes. An automatic 10-year extension privilege went into effect along with the new interest rate. This means your E Bonds will automatically keep earning interest after maturity.

Q: With the new interest rate, should I cash in my old Bonds and buy new ones?

A: No. The automatic $1\frac{1}{2}\%$ increase makes it unnecessary—and in almost every case it is to your advantage to retain your present Bonds.

Q: How are series H Bonds different from series E Bonds?

A: The chief difference is this: You buy H Bonds at full face value and the interest is paid by Treasury check every six months for the life of the Bond. You buy E Bonds at 75% of face value and the interest accumulates to maturity. H Bonds provide income for living expenses, while E Bonds build a nest egg for the future. That's why many retired people hold H Bonds and families saving for, say, a child's education, buy E Bonds.

Q: In what denominations can I buy series E and series H Bonds?

A: E Bonds: $25 (cost $18.75), $50 (cost $37.50), $100 (cost $75.00), $200 (cost $150.00), $500 (cost $375.00), $1,000 (cost $750.00), $10,000 (cost $7,500.00).

H Bonds: $500, $1,000, $5,000 and $10,000. They are priced at face value.

Q: How safe are U.S. Savings Bonds?

A: Savings Bonds are an absolutely riskless way to save. The United States Government guarantees the cash value of your Bonds will not drop, that it can only grow.

Q: What if my Bonds should be lost, stolen or destroyed?

A: You can't lose. Every Bond purchased is recorded by the Treasury. If anything happens to your Bonds they are replaced—free.

Q: Where can I buy Bonds?

A: Buy E Bonds at any bank—it takes only a few minutes. Buy them automatically through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. This Plan means you can have any amount you name automatically deducted every payroll. The Bonds you buy by installments are delivered to you automatically, too. Your bank will take your order for H Bonds.

Q: How do I help strengthen America's peace power when I buy U.S. Savings Bonds?

A: Peace costs money—money for military strength and for science. And money saved by individuals helps keep our economy sound.

Harold A. Turner Asks Reelection

Harold A. Turner, former Mayor of Boca Raton, and resident of the Palm Beach County for 27 years, has formally announced his candidacy for re-election to the Palm Beach County School Board.

Turner is currently vice-chairman of the board, and rounds out a four-year term on January 1. His school board interest and leadership led him to election earlier this year to the State School Board Association as a Director-at-large.

He is the Democratic nominee for District 3 (Southern part of Palm Beach County) School Board, although the election November 6 is county-wide.

A successful business man in this county, Turner has two sons who are now associated with him in his nursery and landscape business. Each is a graduate of the public school system of Palm Beach County and Florida Universities. Turner is particularly proud of three grandchildren, now in school who will be students for the next 12 to 15 years in the county school system.

"They are three of the reasons why I want the voters of this county to afford me a further opportunity to help make our present outstanding school system even better," said Turner. "I am proud that we have here one of the best school systems in Florida, or any other state. But we want to progress each year so that the maximum opportunities are always offered for our young people to be trained and prepared for good and useful places in life."

Turner is highly respected in business, civic and educational circles as a man "with his feet on the ground." He is known for his ability to listen well, to hear all side of controversial issues, and to make up his mind based on facts, not fancies or emotional factors.

Turner has been an active member of his Episcopal Church, having served as vestryman and senior warden through the years.

In civic life, among other honors, he has served as president of his Kiwanis Club.

"He speaks with much pride of the very outstanding school system we have today in Palm Beach County," He said the nearly 50,000 students, 2,000 teachers, 84 schools, plus two junior colleges "is the product of nearly 60 years of dedicated service by many persons."

"For the past four years, I am pleased to have been a part of this most recent progress. We have kept our curricula abreast of the times, so our graduates going to college would be properly equipped. We have maintained the highest teacher standards so the students would be well taught. We have 30 full-time guidance counselors to assist our young men and women of school age to find themselves," asserted Turner.

West Palm Beach Canal Getting Work

WEST PALM BEACH — A $5, 126,000 plan to improve the West Palm Beach Canal between 20 Mile Bend and the east coast was authorized by Congress just before adjournment in Washington.

This is announced by Robert R. Horner of Palm Beach, Vice Chairman of the Governing Board of the Central and Southern Florida Flood Control District.

Horner said a total of five additions to the FCD were authorized by Congress. These include two water control programs for Dade County and two for basin areas near Orlando as well as the West Palm Beach Canal work. Total cost of the five projects is estimated at $36 million, but they promise to return benefits valued at more than $180 million.

The best of the five programs, in terms of benefits, is the West Palm Beach Canal. Improvements now authorized promise to return $10-80 in flood prevention and land enhancement for every dollar now spent on the Canal. This means that more than $50 million will be coming back to Palm Beach County in the next five decades in return for the $5.1 million initial investment, Horner said.

The program will involve widening and deepening the present canal for 17 miles, from Lake Worth to a point four miles east of FCD pumping station 5A. A new spillway will be constructed just downstream of U. S. Highway 1. Two railroad bridges and four highway bridges will also be required.

Mrs. J. S. Harrington who had been visiting for several weeks in Monticello was accompanied back to Canal Point by her daughter, Mrs. K. E. Cooksey and children, Jim and Catherine, who remained here for the weekend.

"Today we need a nation of Minute Men citizens who regard the preservation of freedom as a basic purpose of their daily life"

—JOHN FITZGERALD KENNEDY

10 days after his inauguration as the 35th President of the United States.

Twenty years ago, in the dark, uneasy days before Pearl Harbor, the Minute Man of Concord, timeless symbol of our Nation's determination to defend its freedom, emerged as the emblem of the U. S. Savings Bonds Program. When war came, the Minute Man became the rallying force behind the huge and overwhelmingly successful effort to back our fighting men with War Bonds.

In this, the 20th anniversary year of Savings Bonds, the Minute Man of Concord calls all Americans to an unrelenting effort to help preserve our peace and freedom, threatened by forces more powerful and resourceful than those we faced in 1941. Though this effort will take many forms, one way open to all is the continued investment in Shares in America, U. S. Savings Bonds, by "citizens who regard the preservation of freedom as a basic purpose of their daily life."

Christian Science Group Of Canal Point

What the relationship of God and man can mean in the solution of everyday problems will be brought out at Christian Science Church services Sunday.
 Scriptural selections in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Doctrine of Atonement" include these words of the Master, Christ Jesus: "I and my Father are one" John 10).

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be read this citation (p. 18):

"Atonement is the exemplification of man's unity with God, whereby man reflects divine Truth, Life, and Love. Jesus of Nazareth taught and demonstrated man's oneness with the Father, and for this we owe him endless homage. His mission was both individual and collective. He did life's work aright not only in justice to himself, but in mercy to mortals,—to show them how to do theirs, but not to do it for them nor to relieve them of a single responsibility."

INFANTS CHRISTENED

James I. Moore, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Moore, and Lisa Gay Cook, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Cook were christened in a baptismal ceremony performed by Rev. Thomas C. O'Steen, pastor, during the morning worship service at the Pahokee First Methodist Church, Sunday.

A film was shown depicting the growth of BPW from 1919 to the present time. Also shown was a film taken at the National Convention in Los Angeles, California, last year.

Guests were Mrs. Christine Irla of West Palm Beach and Mrs. Irene Dayton of Pahokee.

Mrs. Ila Mae Lampi was co-hostess with Miss Morgan.

Nematodes Talk—

toes as a regional problem and set out to do something about it. In 1953, there were about a half dozen trained nematologist in the South and by 1957 approximately 20. While the number of trained scientist in this field is ever increasing, there is still a critical shortage. We are therefore very fortunate to have Dr. Winchester join our crops of scientist ever on the search for better agricultural practices.

Some interesting points Dr. Winchester brought out about nematodes in his talk are the different varieties that exist even in our area. For example, and contrary to popular belief, all nematodes do not live under the ground feasting on the roots of our vegetables and fiber crops, but some come all the way to the top of the plant and feast on the stem and leaves. Some are even insect parasites, living in the body of insects. One in particular, is actually helpful to mankind. The Agamermis nematode, burrows its way into the grasshopper where he stays until mature, and then moves out. In the process of leaving, the grasshopper is killed.

Control of nematodes is difficult but possible for at least short periods of time. The larvae and adult can be destroyed by chemical sprays, flooding or heating, but it is often difficult to destroy the eggs. There are some species that have been known to remain dormant for from 8 to 30 years, and when placed under suitable conditions, will again be as vigorously destructive as any.

They appear to be a gregarious type of animal, similar perhaps to the army worm, in that they move in families or armies, from one field to another, attracted by a "host" plant. They are a serious problem to the citrus grower for this reason. A few can start in a single tree, perhaps carried there on the sole of a shoe, and in relatively short time, reproduce and spread out over an entire grove. Because of this, many states have a very strict quarantine on vegetables and plants being carried or shipped into the state. Some new species have even been discovered being carried into this country under the fenders of foreign made cars shipped here.

Dr. Winchester also showed color slides explaining the anatomy, biochemistry, physiology, the development and genetics of the nematode, as well as photographic proof of what that minute animal can do to a crop.

Other guest attending the meeting were Bill Pearson, Mrs. Eli McCall, and Dr. Luther Farrar. Mills Byrom, President, reminded the 18 members present that the next meeting would be for the election of new officers and committeemen for their cooperation in seeing the past season successfully through.

Back in Ben Franklin's Time...

... producing a newspaper was most often a relatively simple, one-man operation. Materials, as well as methods, bore only the faintest resemblance to those used in our modern newspaper industry.

Today, we sometimes take our newspapers for granted, forgetting the enormous efforts that make them possible — the many talented people necessary to write and edit them; the vast news-gathering networks; the printing techniques and complex equipment developed over the years.

On this, the occasion of National Newspaper Week, Southern Bell is happy to join with others throughout the country in honoring our great and growing newspaper industry.
